Jury Finds Accidental Death in Mine Accident

Adds Rider That in Future Jury Be Taken to Scene of Accident as Soon as Possible.

"Accidental death with no blame attached to anyone," was the verdict of a jury empanelled under Coroner D. MacPherson to enquire into the accident which caused the death of Vicenty Cieslak at McGillivray Creek on Saturday. The jury added the rider that in future accidents the jury should be taken to the scene of the accident as soon as possible.

Witnesses heard were A. E. Graham, engineer, who presented a blue print of the scene of the accident and described the place as he saw it following the accident.

Vince Smolik, deceased's partner, had worked with deceased less than a month. The place in his opinion was well timbered, with a sufficient supply of timber on hand. The place was dangerous only in the light that it was too steep.

Gus James, fireboss, stated he had inspected the place at 12:30 p.m. the day of the accident. He found it in good shape, being well timbered and quiet.

Angus Hughes, fireboss, saw the place at 5 a.m. the day of the accident and found it adequately timbered and the battery good.

J. Atkinson, senior, was sworn in late in the inquest to give testimony. He had been one of a party visiting the scene on the Sunday morning following the accident. He saw a rock lying in the place approximately 12 feet by 15 feet. He thought the place poorly timbered.

When questions came thick and fast at this point, Mines Inspector Evan Morgan halted the proceedings temporarily by clearly defining the duties of a coroner's jury and that of a court of enquiry. He stated that the witness was not in a position to know anything about the place prior to the accident, since he had not seen it, and was only forming his own opinion of the place by having seen it after the accident.

Anton Samoilis, timberpacker, was sworn in, and gave testimony that a sufficient supply of timber had always been on hand.

After retiring a short time the jury came in with the accidental death verdict. Personnel of the jury: L. S. Richards, foreman; H. Tibergien, J. Holyk, A. Vangostinov, J. Dancio and D. Campo.

CHILDREN CONTRIBUTE TO RUSSIA FUND

The sum of $7.60 was raised for the Russian fund by the Grade VI class of Miss Johnston's room of Central school. Proceeds were obtained by means of a penny concert culminating in an enterprise on the U.S.S.R. The amount was donated to the local committee in charge of the Russian fund.

On Friday Mr. Meronik gave a very interesting lecture on the U.S.S.R. to Grades IV, V and VI of Central school.

FIRST PASS AIR CADET JOINS R.C.A.F.

Pass Cadet officers viewed with satisfaction last week the enlistment of the first Air Cadet from this district in the R.C.A.F. He was Cadet Jack Barlass, of Bellevue, who will soon leave to report to R.C.A.F. officials.

Jack was guest of honor at a social evening given him by the Cadet and Girl Guides. Nine cars filled with Girl Guides and Cadets from Coleman were in attendance. He was presented with an album from his Air Cadet friends.

Funeral of Vicenty Cieslak Held on Tuesday

Came to Coleman in 1927; Has Son in Armed Forces Overseas.

The funeral of the late Vicenty Cieslak, 43 years, was held on Tuesday afternoon, services being held in the Holy Ghost church, Rev. Father L. Sullivan conducting. Interment was in the Coleman Catholic cemetery.

Decedent was born in Poland in 1900. He grew to manhood in that country and was married there. In 1926 he, his wife and two children came to Canada and settled on year later in Coleman.

A son, Walter, landed overseas with the Canadian Army less than two months ago. His widow and two remaining members of the family reside in East Coleman. One brother resides in the States and he has several sisters in Poland.

Nick Howak Found Dead at Calgary; Funeral Held Tuesday

Had Been Missing For a Week; Had Gone to City For Medical Attention.

The sad and tragic death of Nick Howak, 60 years, came to light last Saturday morning when a Calgary resident found the body hanging from a tree. It was believed he had been dead for a week.

Decedent had been the object of a city-wide search by the Calgary police when he first was reported missing. $126 was found on the body.

Decedent came to Coleman in 1928, having worked before that time at Brule and Nordegg. He was an employee of McGillivray Creek Co.

Some time ago he received an injury. Three weeks ago he went to Calgary to receive further medical attention. Here he reported to the medical authorities, but soon he disappeared and a city-wide search was made for him, it ending on Saturday with the finding of the body. On Tuesday morning it was brought from Calgary to Coleman for burial, the funeral taking place on Tuesday afternoon.

A brother resides here.

JAMES RADFORD KILLED AT BELLEVUE, TUESDAY

James Radford, 63 years, afternoon pitboss at Bellevue mine, was accidentally killed on Tuesday evening when he was caught between some cars. It appears that one car of coal went off the track and the cars coming behind started to pile up, Mr. Radford being caught in the pile-up.

Decedent was well known in the Pass towns and sympathy is extended to the family.

MISS MARY SNIDER AIDS DR. LISEMER AT SURGERY AND OUTSIDE CASES

Miss Mary Snider, nurse-in-training for the past three years at the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton, commenced her duties this week as a nurse to Dr. Liseimer in the surgery and cases outside the hospital.

Miss Snider will sit for her final examinations at the Alexandra within the next few months. She is a local girl, having attended the public and high school here. Her parents reside in East Coleman.

Cigarette Fund Notes

Dear Sirs: I do want to take this opportunity of thanking and extending my best wishes to all the officers and members of the Legion and Ladies Auxiliary in appreciation for the cigarettes and Christmas parcel I received a week ago. You never forget us, so how can we forget you.

I was on leave just before Christmas. Spent a bit of the time in Scotland and the remainder in London. I had a swell dinner at the Beaver Club there on Xmas Day. I have met many Coleman and Pass boys in the short time I have been here. I spent New Year's Day with Walter Cieslak and Alex Chalmers, who looked me up. I was surprised to see them, as they had landed only a few weeks ago.

Well, thanks again to you and all those who in any way helped to make our Yuletide more cheerful.—J. J. Sikora.

Dear Friends: I received the package of 1,000 cigarettes, and thanks very much for them. They come in handy and it seems that we never get enough ahead to last till the next mail comes. I have been working on the same job as Laurie McLeod, but his company is leaving here tomorrow on another job. I met Joe Panek in the Canadian Legion Club in London on New Year's Day and Roach Custer in the Beaver Club.—Geo. Clark.

Dear Friends: Many thanks for the Xmas parcels. Find England not too bad, but would sooner have Canada any day. Have met quite a few Coleman boys and there is quite a lot of us around here. Walter Cieslak and I, also Willie Reid, George Reid's eldest son, are in the same company, the latter having joined the Canadian Army in England, and the three of us will leave shortly for seven days' furlough in Scotland.—Alex. Chalmers.

Dear Sirs and Comrades: It was with distinct pleasure that I again received your very generous Christmas parcel. While presently in Canada I do not feel deserving of such recognition.

I observe from the papers that Coleman continues very busy and doing a fine job in getting out coal, which has been greatly in demand this present winter.

Will you please convey my respects and thanks to the Ladies' Auxiliary, and place the enclosed to one of your patriotic endeavors.

With kind regards to all, sincerely—G. C. Nurecombe, Flight Lieutenant.

Other soldiers sending "thank you" letters were L. Brown, Joe Panek, F. Marconi, Johnny Raymond, Ross and Foss Foster, C. DeCicco, F. Coccilone and W. Anderson.

Dear Sir: Please apply enclosed small sum to your Cigarette Fund supplying much needed smokes to Coleman soldiers at the front.—T. Clarke, Macleod.

Dear Friends: Many thanks for the Xmas parcels. Find England

Ranch Workers Report Grim Find

(Nanton News)

Jack Dempsey, foreman at the A7 ranch, related to us particulars of an unusual experience of some of the A7 ranch hands two weeks ago.

On the A7 range the men came upon a deer, in the horns of which were interlocked the horns of an older deer, with the complete head and about three feet of hide, stripped from the back, still attached. The horns of the younger deer had penetrated and passed through the lower jaw of the head with which it was buried. The A7 boys captured the deer, and with little difficulty, released it from its burden.

Just how the young deer was able to separate the head of its apparent sparing partner from the body remains a mystery.

Miners Meet at Mass Meeting This Afternoon

Protest Against Being Unable to Get a Second Doctor Here; Wire Sent Federal Minister of Labor.

Local miners are attending a mass meeting in the Community hall this afternoon, where they are discussing the doctor question.

Last Sunday at a union meeting the same question was discussed and a wire drafted to be sent the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, federal minister of labor. The wire was despatched on Monday morning and it asked the minister to use his office to have a doctor sent to Coleman, as the present doctor was at the call of more than 4,000 citizens and was greatly overworked. He was given till Wednesday morning to send a reply, failing which, a mass meeting of the local miners would be called to further discuss what measures to take to force the issue.

No reply has been received from the minister, hence the mass meeting this afternoon.

Things came to a head last week when one serious accident had to be sent to a city hospital due to the lack of doctors to give sufficient attention. A fatal accident also occurred, which hastened the decision to form matters regarding securing a second doctor.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

One hundred friends gathered at the Catholic church hall on Friday evening for a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Margaret Siska, bride-elect. Hostesses were the Mesdames J. Kapalka, J. Rezac, S. W. Panek, J. Tarcon and L. Vasiek. The Misses Lena Snider, Mary Kovacik and Annie Salus.

It is unfortunate that these conditions should occur at a time when the shortage of coal is so acute, but the railways are doing all they can do under severe traffic conditions.

All the mines of the district from Maple Leaf to Michel were idle on certain days as a result of the car shortage.

Main Address to be Delivered by Rev. J. E. Kirk; Addresses to be Delivered in Several Languages; Local Talent to Feature Concert.

A committee meeting to arrange final details for the public meeting and concert to be held on Sunday, March 7, was held by the local Red Cross on Tuesday evening.

The union delegate, M. Stigler, suggested that the miners had accepted the suggestion that they be canvassed at the mines. A committee of two was then appointed to interview the mine management to secure permission to make the mine canvas and also to have the general offices make the necessary deductions to the pay statements. Mr. Stigler also informed the meeting that the community hall has been granted rent free for the concert.

A strong advertising committee was appointed to have the concert given maximum publicity in the press, in the theatre and in the schools. Posters, donated by The Journal, were distributed throughout town on Wednesday afternoon.

Speakers and artists were listed and the program will be drawn up by President Dutil and his committee on Friday evening.

By the co-operation of the miners to be canvassed at the mines, considerable work has been taken from the shoulders of the committee. However, committees were appointed to take care of the teachers, business men, contractors and others not connected with the mine.

The campaign will start in earnest on Monday, March 8, when aggressive efforts will be made to reach the $1,000 quota given Coleman as quickly as possible.

Persons who may be missed in the canvass and who are desirous of contributing to this worthy cause, can take their donations to the local headquarters depot at the Coleman Hardware store and hand them to Red Cross president, W. Dutil.

THE TOWN COUNCIL

GROWN IN SUNNY, SOUTHERN ONTARIO

Nutrition And National Health

IN RECENT WEEKS the subject of nutrition in relation to national health has again been brought before the Canadian public. Since the beginning of the war some surprising facts regarding the health of our people have been revealed. Canada, with its great agricultural development, has always been regarded as "a land of plenty", yet now we know that over half the recruits of the average age of twenty-two and a half years did not qualify for the Grade A physical standards of our armed forces. Mrs. Phyllis Turner, oils and fats administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, has raised the question that if this condition exists among young men just past their majority, what would be the figures in other age groups? The problem of raising the standard of physical fitness in this country offers a real challenge to us in these times, when we are striving in every way possible to put forth a maximum effort to win the war.

New System Is Needed A recent survey among the civilian population showed that the average family here was receiving less than seventy per cent. of the foods called for by the Canadian Dietary Standard. In a great many cases, this was not due to poverty, but to ignorance, and public education on the subject of nutrition is now being emphasized, in order to overcome this ignorance. There are, however, many instances in which the family income is not sufficient to provide an adequate diet. Mrs. Turner, who takes a keen interest in improving Canadian standards of nutrition, has pointed out that people who are inadequately fed are not physically fit, and that they become, in time, a liability to the nation. If this condition is to be corrected it appears that some new system for the production and distribution of food will have to be devised. This, Mrs. Turner suggests, should be based on the nutritional needs of the people.

Surplus Of Food Not Great Food production and distribution are linked with agriculture, an industry in which a large proportion of our population is interested. In spite of the fact that our output of food stuffs is very great, we are told that there is not a sufficient surplus of all foods to provide an adequate diet for our population. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions and National Health, has stated in this connection that it will be necessary to increase the production of many kinds of food to ensure even "the minimum quantities required for an adequate health diet for all". This raises the question of making increased production economically worth while to the farmer. These means must be found, Mr. Mackenzie believes, and the farmer must be assured reasonable returns on his crops. The whole problem is clearly one of great importance, and the intelligent co-operation of the public is necessary in the effort to raise the standard of our national health as rapidly as possible.

HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA

LUNCH BOX VARIETY

Variety, we are told, is the spice of life. It also can add greatly to the enjoyment of the worker's mid-day meal. Imagination is a prerequisite for the lunch box planner, for nothing can perk up a jaded appetite like new ideas and innovations introduced into the daily lunch. For example sandwiches are not, as some people, a vital necessity of the diet. Indeed, they can be eliminated entirely from time to time and other items of food substituted with gratifying effect. Following are some lunch box menus which do not include sandwiches; yet are very appetizing, just the same:

Cream of Pea Soup	Fish and Celery Salad
Whole Wheat Bread and Butter	(Pithards can take place of salami—these are economical)
Cabbage and Carrot Salad	White Wheat Bread and Butter
Canned Plums	Coffee or Coca
Milk	Cake
*	Canned fruit or left-over pudding
*	*
Cream Soup	Macaroni with Cheese
Deviled Egg and Lettuce Salad	Fruit Cup
With Carrot Strips	Bread and Butter
Whole Wheat Bread and Butter	Milk
Apple	*
*	*
Cream of Tomato Soup	Potato and Onion Soup
Beet and Celery Salad	Cabbage and Raw Apple Salad
Carrot Strips	Bread and Butter
Whole Wheat Muffins and Butter	Cocoa
Tea and Milk	*
*	*

In order to make sure that liquids and salads are packed securely, it will be necessary to have always on hand the proper equipment. This consists of:

1. Standard Lunch Box
2. Thermos bottle—for soups and beverages.
3. Glass jar with screw top—for puddings and fruit. Clean jam or mayonnaise jars are ideal for this purpose.
4. Paper cups—for salads.
5. Wax paper—for salads and sandwiches.
6. Spoon and fork.

So use your imagination Mrs. Housewife, and make it a pleasure for the man of the family to open his lunch box when the noonday whistle blows.

Japanese Workers May Help Out On Sugar Beet Farms

A plan to transfer some 600 Japanese families to prairie and Ontario sugar beet farms has been approved by the federal government and representatives of the industry have begun canvassing Japanese workers, an official of the British Columbia security commission said.

The plan is on a voluntary basis and no compulsion will be used in acquiring workers, the officials said.

About 3,000 men, women and children who were evacuated from the coast to interior B.C. towns last year will be affected.

SWINE DISEASES

Erysipelas May Attack Hogs Of All Ages—More Prevalent Among Young Pigs

This is the fourth of a series of six articles by J. L. Miller, N.S., provincial veterinarian, Regina, dealing with swine diseases prevalent in this province. The remaining articles will appear weekly in the following order: Trichinosis, June 1; Lepto, June 8; Previously published: Hemorrhagic Septicemia and Baby Pig Diseases; Mange, June 15; and Foot-and-Mouth, June 22.

Swine Erysipelas has for many years been one of the most important diseases affecting swine in Continental Europe and the British Isles. It made its appearance on this continent about 1921 and since that time has been very prevalent in this province. Swine of all ages are susceptible, but as a rule, outbreaks of Swine Erysipelas are confined to pigs under six months of age. It is more common during the spring, summer and fall, but may occur at any time.

The cause of swine erysipelas is an organism known as Leptospira rhusiopathiae. It is very resistant to adverse conditions and has been known to live in soil or decaying material for many months. This is the reason in despite of the outbreaks of this disease, since the organism can live in the soil the infection tends to recur in succeeding litters of pigs. It is also known that this germ may be harbored in the body of apparently healthy swine. These animals act as carriers and may transmit the infection when placed in contact with healthy pigs. The disease is thought to be spread by healthy hogs consuming food or water which has become contaminated by discharge from diseased animals.

Symptoms. Symptoms displayed by pigs affected with this disease are varied and are usually described as acute, chronic and skin types. In the acute type the onset is sudden and may be dead found dead without any previous symptoms. In the chronic type several pigs may be found sick with temperatures ranging from 105 to 106 degrees. They may eat and are active when disturbed. Later they refuse to eat. Lastingly, they may vomit and constipation is usually observed. Swellings may develop on the legs and the animals appear stiff when forced to exercise.

Skin Type: From twenty-four to forty-eight hours after the onset of the disease irregular red patches, which are somewhat swollen, may be seen on the lighter parts of the skin. These patches are roughly diamond shaped and are called diamond skin disease. Pigs suffering from the acute type are in a few days either maimed completely, while others show a gradual improvement and lapse into the chronic form.

Chronic Type: In this type the joints become enlarged and painful. Marked stiffness is noted, and if the animal is forced to exercise may show evidence of great pain. Loss of weight and general anemia are usually observed. In another form of the chronic type litters will do well until they are two to three months old, but as they grow older they become maimed, the skin loses its bright clear appearance, becoming dry and scaly, and the hair appears long and shaggy. Pigs suffering from this type fail to develop and frequently weigh only thirty-five to forty pounds when grown.

Animals suffering from the chronic type of Swine Erysipelas often live for months and then die; some, however, slowly recover but usually remain unthrifty, poor hogs.

Poisonous: Post mortems held on pigs dying from this disease reveal that the heart is enlarged. The liver is usually enlarged and the pulp of this organ is very dark in colour. The surface of the spleen may be studded with small elevations from the size of a pea to a large bean. Small hemorrhages are often found on the surface of the heart, and in the chronic form cushion-like growths may be found on the heart valves.

Diagnosis: The diagnosis of Swine Erysipelas should always be confirmed by sending a sick pig to a laboratory for examination.

Treatment: All affected animals should be isolated from healthy hogs in the herd. Place sick pigs in comfortable quarters and provide soft feed. Anti Swine Erysipelas Serum has proved effective in the treatment of this disease in the early stages. It should be given in doses of not less than 20 c.c. per hundred lbs. of pig, injected deeply under the skin. This dose should be repeated every twelve to twenty-four hours until improvement is evident. Larger amounts can also be used to protect healthy animals which have been exposed in an outbreak of this disease. In this case a 10 to 20 c.c. dose should be used.

Prevention: On premises where Swine Erysipelas has been known to exist it is wise to practice strict hygiene by the following method. Inject each pig when one week of age with 10 c.c. of Anti Swine Erysipelas Serum, 5 c.c. on each side behind the elbow. This dose should be repeated in thirty days. This method is effective during the life of the average pig.

On premises where the disease has been known to exist, healthy swine should be kept away from contaminated houses, pens and pastures. Swine known to have been infected should not be kept for breeding purposes. Contaminated houses, pens, etc. should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected.

Naval Veterans

Convoy Commanders Have The Spirit Of Drake and Nelson

Admiral Sir Studdhume Brownrigg,

a naval veteran of the last war, has been reported missing somewhere on active service at sea. Awarded the D.S.O. in the battle of Jutland, Admiral Brownrigg had well earned retirement before the outbreak of this war. He enlisted again, however, to serve as convoy commodore—one of the unknown warriors in the most protracted battle.

The convoy commodore's task is to cross one of the cargo ships in the front line as they move slowly together on voyages through submarine infested seas. The masters of the ships in convoy are responsible to the commodore. He has to keep the ships together, to make decisions when one or another of the ships is in difficulties, when they are attacked or when they are laboring under the stress of gale weather.

Slowly they plod along sometimes more than 14 days out of sight of land in an Atlantic crossing.

Naval veterans, admirals and captains, have returned to serve with the seafaring men in the merchant marine, truly as unknown warriors, through the long months into years of monotonous crossing and recrossings of bleak and turbulent ocean expanses. They are under no illusions about the probabilities of eventually being torpedoed. One after another they have gone down; grand men, with none of the thrill of action stations, but truly with the spirit of Drake and Nelson. They should ever be remembered as unknown warriors of the sea—Ottawa Citizen.

R.A.F. BOMBERS KEEP UP CONTINUOUS NIGHT AND DAY ATTACKS ON OCCUPIED EUROPE

London.—R.A.F. bombers soared over the continent Sunday to complete a 72-hour cycle of continuous Allied night and day attacks, and close out February as the war's month of most devastating and intensified bombing of Nazi-occupied Europe.

R.A.F. Whirlwinds attacked the Nazi-held airfield at Maupertus, near Cherbourg, in France, and Mosquito bombers hit in factories in Hengelo, Holland, and near Liege in Belgium.

These daylight raids followed a smash at western Germany Saturday night by R.A.F. bombers, and completed a cycle of sustained night and day attacks by British and U.S. planes that began with the heavy raid Thursday night on Nuremberg.

None of the British planes was lost in Sunday's daylight operations, and escorting Spitfires destroyed an enemy plane, the air ministry said.

There was no indication that the raid was on a large scale and specific targets were not disclosed. Only one bomber was reported lost. Mine-laying activities occupied the Allied air forces Sunday and an R.C.A.F. communiqué said one machine of its force was missing.

While there were no official reports on the weight of bombs hurled at Hitler's Europe in February's raids, well-placed observers speculated that the tonnage possibly topped 10,000 tons. Through last year the R.A.F. was officially reported to have dropped an average of more than 4,000 tons a month.

The ceaseless attack went on all through Saturday's daylight with R.A.F. medium bombers hitting Dunkirk and American heavy bombers smashing the German naval base at Brest on the French coast.

R.C.A.F. Spitfires supplied the fighter cover for the lethal waves of bombers which hit at Dunkirk, and the Canadians were credited with destroying two enemy fighters. At least two Canadian squadrons were engaged and they came through numerous dogfights over the channel and France with the loss of only one machine.

The daylight operations Saturday followed a "very heavy" attack by R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers Friday night on the battered German industrial city of Cologne.

Canadians from the R.C.A.F. bomber group as well as Dominion fliers in R.A.F. crews participated in the Cologne attack, and reported on their return that they saw fires from as far away as 80 miles after the raid. Sgt. A. W. Cochran of Redmond said "it looked like an oil tank" blew up when the bombs from his Halifax struck.

Study Is Given To The Problem Of Air Traffic

Ottawa.—The Canadian government has given a considerable study to the problem of the control of international air traffic in the future, it was learned from an authoritative source.

In any discussions looking to an international agreement on civil aviation, Canada—because of its strategic location astride potential air routes between the eastern and western hemispheres and its extensive development of both civil and military aviation within its own borders—will be keenly interested.

With a view to the future, the government has seen to it that Canadian rights have been protected in all agreements with the United States concerning the construction of landing fields and airlines on Canadian territory for war purposes.

In some quarters it is urged that an international agreement be reached before the end of the war in order to avoid complications after the war. It is felt that the negotiation of a reasonable arrangement might be easier now than it would be after hostilities cease and commercial rivalries between the nations become more intense.

So far as can be learned the Canadian government has taken no official position on that question although some of its officials are known to be in favor of early negotiations.

MEET OPPONENT

Axes Forces Make New Effort To Wipe Out Bosnia

Berne, Switzerland.—Balkan despatches indicated that Axis forces, although supported by both dive-bombers and artillery, are meeting fierce opposition in a new effort to wipe out patriot warriors of Bosnia.

A Budapest despatch quoting a Zagreb report said 5,000 Partisans had been killed and an equal number wounded since the beginning of the latest campaign, which has frequently involved skirmishes in deep snow across rugged country at an altitude of 6,000 feet.

The Axis-influenced despatch said Partisans had fired supply depots, but did not mention Axis casualties. However, losses of Italian troops alone last year, before the Axis decided upon the present big effort to clear out resistance in parts of former Yugoslavia, totalled 6,000 dead, and more than 6,000 wounded.

Eight Sentenced To Death In India For Murder Of Canadians

London.—A Reuters despatch from Patna, India, said eight persons had been sentenced to death there for the murder of two Canadian R.A.F. officers last Aug. 10. The officers were dragged from a train by a mob and beaten to death.

Two others involved were sentenced to life imprisonment and five others got five-year terms.

POST-WAR PLANS

Would Create International Police Force After The War

London.—Foreign Secretary Eden said in response to a question in the House of Commons that Britain is anxious to co-operate with the U.S. and other United Nations in the creation of an international police force after the war.

He said "considerable progress" has been made in preparing the ground for discussions with the U.S. on post-war economic and financial problems.

The regular purchase of War Savings certificates or stamps is one of the best investments you can make. There is no income tax on these.

Hospitals In Canada Far Behind In Their Building; Needs

Toronto.—Health conditions in Canada must be reviewed with grave concern, said the member of the Ontario legislature, Dr. Harold E. Welsh.

Doctor Welsh, a medical health officer, said that at the present time

Canada's mental hospitals are overcrowded, and the sanatoria are filled.

Hospitals, he said, are 10 years behind in their building programs.

WEEKLY WAR COST

Canadians Will Have To Make Heavy Payments This Year

Ottawa.—The 1943 budget provides expenditures by the Canadian government at a rate per month as great as the rate per year was a few years ago.

In 1935, for instance, the budget was $478,000,000. (This year it will be $5,500,000,000.)

For the average Canadian family of four persons, the cost of the war this year will average about $35 a week, to which must be added about $25 a week for non-war federal costs. In actual taxation, the government hopes to collect 45 per cent of this amount, obtaining the rest in loans.

But borrowing money from the public may not be enough and this is important continued borrowings from the chartered banks must be provided. This is the least dangerous form of direct inflation, but it is straight inflation nonetheless. This policy was started last August with sale of deposit certificates to the banks on six-months' terms. These certificates are being renewed now, though several hundred million of dollars worth of them have been redeemed out of revenue in the meantime. During 1943 bank borrowing may run as high as $1,000,000,000, leaving $4.5 billion to be raised by taxes and borrowing.

A GREAT PROBLEM

Hospitals In Canada Far Behind In Their Building; Needs

Toronto.—Health conditions in Canada must be reviewed with grave concern, said the member of the Ontario legislature, Dr. Harold E. Welsh.

Doctor Welsh, a medical health officer, said that at the present time

Canada's mental hospitals are over-

crowded, and the sanatoria are filled.

Hospitals, he said, are 10 years behind in their building programs.

NATIONAL FARM LABOR POLICY FOR STABILIZING EMPLOYMENT AND ENSURING FARM WORKERS

Ottawa.—Labor Minister Mitchell outlined to the House of Commons a national farm labor policy for 1943 which he said, may necessitate the temporary closing of some industries which can temporarily suspend operations without impairing the war effort.

The program provides:

1. Continuation of a policy for stabilizing employment in agriculture through the freezing of farm labor and postponement of call-up for essential agricultural workers;

2. Extension of a Dominion provincial plan for enlisting the services of men, women and students in urban centres;

3. Action to ensure the return to farms by spring of some 175,000 agricultural workers temporarily employed in other seasonal work;

4. Use of available pools of manpower including treaty Indians, recruitment and training of women, men discharged from the armed forces, civilian internees and Japanese;

5. Temporary release of men and women from certain industries;

6. Direction to productive farms of unmarried men called for military service but found unfit;

7. Payment of transportation in farm labor movements from one province to another and assistance for movements within a province;

8. Encouragement to workers in low productive farms to move to more productive farms;

9. Consideration of the use of prisoners of war.

"Industries which do so without impairing the war effort will be required to release men and women suitable for farm work," Mr. Mitchell general," the minister said.

"This may mean that during the rush seasons some industries may be closed temporarily."

A Dominion-provincial plan on a dollar-for-dollar basis had been successfully operated in Ontario for three years and, more recently, in some other provinces.

Under this plan 50,000 placements of high school students, university students, school teachers, men and others were made on Ontario farms in 1942. The plan would be expanded and further extended in all provinces in 1943.

"Suggestions have been made that we develop a women's land army—well you see we have had three years of successful experience with a much broader scheme in Ontario and to a lesser degree in other provinces," he said.

Agricultural workers now in other employment temporarily would be compelled to return to the farms by spring. Otherwise they would lose their right to postponement from military service and would be refused permits for work in any other industry.

Steps being taken to obtain the advice of experienced farmers included the appointment of a representative on the selective service advisory board.

(Labor department officials said the appointment referred to by the minister was that of P. D. MacArthur of Howard, Que.)

"The national farm labor policy of 1943 calls for the closest co-operation of the federal and provincial departments of agriculture, other federal and provincial departments, national and local farm organizations, and the co-operation of citizens in suitable for farm work," Mr. Mitchell general," the minister said.

POLAND WILL INSIST ON THE ESTABLISHMENT OF PRE-WAR FRONTIERS, WHEN WAR IS OVER

London.—When the war is over—Poland of intention to base the east according to a Polish government spokesman—the pre-war frontier of the Dnieper river and the Black sea, must be established between Poland or to impinge to Poland any tend and Russia. Russia, as an adherent to move her frontier farther of the Atlantic charter, is committed to the east."

The government also denied formally that Poland ever agreed to any co-operation with the Germans against the Soviet Union either before or during this war.

TO FURNISH NEWS

Hope To Provide More Information From Japanese Prison Camps

London.—Relatives of servicemen and civilians taken prisoners when Hong Kong fell Dec. 24, 1942, were invited at a meeting to form a "Hong Kong Fellowship" through which it is hoped to provide more regular news from Japanese prison camps.

The plan has the support of the admiralty, war office, colonial office and Red Cross.

Little has been learned of the fate or condition of Hong Kong prisoners and many are still officially listed as missing. Mrs. Beryl Tidbury, wife of Brig. O. H. Tidbury, who planned the fellowship said she is hopeful that periodic circulation of available news would soften protracted anxieties.

It is not proposed to furnish news of individual prisoners in the printed news letters which will be distributed, but all available official general information will be given.

Membership of the fellowship is expected to be about 5,000.

Approximately 1,500 Canadian soldiers were made prisoners when the Japanese overran Hong Kong.

Coastal Command Eyes of the Navy In Hunt for Bismarck

Story of Sea-Going Aircraft's Part in Great Naval Battle Told in Air Ministry Publication.

By Scott Young
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian Destroyer on patrol many of which co-operate with coastal commands of the R.C.A.F.
and R.A.F.

LONDON, (CP) — The Coastal Command aircraft ranged far over the coast of Norway that day, stooging along between the fjords. Its pilot couldn't have known that he was the first link in the chain that led to the most spectacular Atlantic naval battle of the war.

Near Bergen, reconnoitring the approaches to that port, he saw two warships, one large, riding at anchor. He circled, took his photographs, looked closer. Then he turned and thundered homeward. He had an idea.

He talked cautiously of it to the station intelligence officer. While they were talking, wet photographs of the reconnaissance were brought in. The intelligence officer looked them over, reached for a phone.

From the phone, from Coastal Command headquarters, came an urgent voice: "Bring those prints to me at once."

The pilot was right. The warships were the German battleship Bismarck and cruiser Prinz Eugen. He was so sure of his discovery that when it was discovered no other aircraft was available to take the prints to headquarters, he took them himself in the plane he had used earlier.

Dash Through The Night

He ran out of fuel at Nottingham, his home town. He left the plane at an airfield and found a friend with an automobile. Through the night, this pilot who had seen Norway that day sped southward deep into England. He delivered his prints at 1 a.m.

Early that same morning the Bismarck and Prinz Eugen were attacked by six Whitleys and six Lockheed-Hudsons of Coastal Command. That is the story given by the Air Ministry's new publication, "Coastal Command", of the beginning of the running battle across the North Atlantic during which the H.M.S. Hood and the Bismarck were sunk. That first attack was on May 22, 1941.

The story of that action alternately appalled and thrilled the entire Allied world. The Bismarck and Eugen, shadowed by Allied aircraft left Norway and headed out into the Atlantic to raid convoys. The British sent a strong naval force after them. They met in battle. The battleship Hood went down. The battle continued, then the Germans escaped. For thirty-one and a half hours their position was unknown.

When the Bismarck was found again (The Eugen had changed course) it was by Coastal Command.

Shadowed From Air

The Catalina was above the Bismarck before the R.A.F. crew sighted her through the haze. The Bismarck sent up heavy fire. One piece of shell passed upwards through the floor between the two pilots. There were only two casualties in that phase of the action, neither of them human—down in the Catalina's galley one of her crew dropped and broke two plates.

From then on, Coastal Command planes shadowed the German battleship. They helped slow her down with constant attacks, were in on the kill when torpedoes from British ships administered the coup de grace on May 26, five days after the Coastal Command pilot brought back the news that the Bismarck and the Eugen were on the loose.

That is just a spectacular example of one of Coastal Command's many duties. The Whitleys, Wellingtons, Liberators, Catalinas and Sunderlands are always on the prowl.

Two days after the Germans marched into Russia Coastal Command took an official British mission to Archangel, cutting crew to carry officials so that a general, an admiral and an air commodore manned the guns during the trip.

During the days of France's fall, Coastal Command took Lord Gort to North Africa to talk with French officials on the possibility of carrying on the fight there.

They go out by daylight and by night, dropping out of the clouds for photographs of German ports at 500 feet with flak throwing up solid walls of death around them, skimming the water unseen along the path of the moon's reflection—"flying up the moon," they call it—to take enemy shipping by surprise.

Coastal Command is the eye of the navy, and part of its fist.

WEDDINGS

SALUS—SISKA

A quiet yet pretty wedding was solemnized at Holy Ghost church on Saturday, Feb. 28, at 10:30 a.m., when Margaret Dorothy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Siska, became the bride of John Siska, brother of the groom, who Peter, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Salus, both of Coleman. Rev. Father L. Sullivan conducted.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of white sheer and a long bridal veil. She carried a bouquet of white lilies and roses. Her attendants were Misses Lena Snider, who wore a gown of pale green sheer; Ann Salus, sister of the groom, who

Hailed Out

- but John Freeman beats disaster

"I'VE BEEN hailed out. But I've got an idea." John Freeman sat across the desk from his bank manager in a small prairie town. John's eyes twinkled but his mouth was grim. "Idea's about all I have got!" he added.

The banker knew John, a hard-working, honest, shrewd prairie farmer, a fighter. "Let's have your idea," he said.

"It'll take funds, plenty of funds, and I haven't any, not now!" said John. "But listen." The banker listened.

"I know cattle," said John, when he had finished. "It'll work—if you'll stake me."

The banker staked him. With a considerable loan from the bank, John bought feeder cattle and fattened them on his beaten-down fields. He also bought the ruined crops of several adjoining farms and turned his stock to graze there. And John won his round with misfortune.

Because of the bank's confidence in John Freeman's integrity and judgment, loss was turned to gain. And not only for him. The neighbours got ready cash for crops which otherwise would have been a total loss.

Though this farmer's name was not "John Freeman," the facts in this story are true. It is typical of the thousand ways in which Canada's Chartered Banks aid credit-worthy people in all walks of life to profit from their individual enterprise and industry.

By banking during morning hours you can help the war effort, facilitate your own business, and lighten the wartime burden on the men and women in your branch bank. More than one-third of our experienced men have gone to war.

Tonight and Friday, The Palace is showing the exciting film, "This Gun for Hire." In the leading roles are Veronica Lake, Robert Preston and Alan Ladd. Ladd is the gentleman who will hire his gun to anyone for a price with no questions asked. There are many exciting scenes in the picture plus brilliant acting from the star players, which makes it a picture well worth seeing.

At the week end, Ronald Colman, Jean Arthur and Gary Grant come to The Palace in "Talk of the Town."

Next Tuesday and Wednesday at The Palace will be featured the highly publicized film, "The Spoils." It has its setting in the gold fields and is a picture of the roaring Gold Frontier. Bold women, brawny men, gold muckers and glory seekers all find a place in its setting. It is a film packed with action, adventure and romance. Stars are Marlene Dietrich, Randolph Scott and John Wayne.

During the month of February, the Religious Education Council of Alberta put on a finance campaign in support of the children's boys' and girls' work in the province. The two local Trail Ranger boys' groups collected a total of $24 for this fund and wish to thank those who contributed.

James Cousins Addresses Church Congregation

Sunday evening, Mar. 7, Mr. James Cousins opened the Sunday evening series: "Contributions of the different services to a Christian Ideal and Civilization," with a very thought provoking and interesting address on the contribution made to a Christian Ideal and Civilization.

He stressed the importance of character building in a child's life, and the opportunity of the primary school teacher especially in this regard. He stressed the need of Christian character and a strong personality in the teachers of children in both the public and private schools and that generally speaking too little attention was being given toward procuring students of outstanding character and personality for the teaching profession, due largely to the fact that the general public didn't grant the profession the importance it deserved.

Perhaps there is no body of leaders in the land or in the world that has such an opportunity to lay the foundation for good citizenship, Christianity in its ideals, as the teaching profession. Perhaps the profession has the best opportunity to mould life as it has. And we were reminded that even the much criticized Soviet had realized the true importance of the teaching profession and recently two teachers of long service had been honored by the state and presented with medals for their long and important services.

The evening congregation deeply appreciated Mr. Cousin's address.

Next Sunday, Mar. 7, Mr. Alex. Balloch will give an address on the Contribution of the Press to a Christian Ideal and Civilization. The service will be at 7 p.m. Sunday evening and all are invited.

Following the address by Alex. Balloch Sunday evening, other Sunday evening addresses are being arranged by local citizens on the contributions of other professions, including business, industry, law, Christian education and the like. Every profession and vocation has an opportunity to make a contribution to the Christian ideals of our civilization. Justice and security can obtain only as we make a worthy contribution.

MOBILIZATION OF SINGLE MEN

A RECENT Proclamation, issued by His Excellency the Governor General in Council, provides that certain single men must register immediately for the Military Call-up under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations.

Single Men who must now register are those who were born in any year from 1902 to 1928 inclusive, and who did not previously undergo medical examination under the Military Call-up.

Men actually in the Armed Services are exempt under this order, but men discharged from the Services, not previously medically examined under the Military Call-up, must now register.

"Single Men" referred to, now required to register include any man—born in any one of the years mentioned, who has not previously been medically examined for the military call-up, and described as follows:— "who was on the 15th day of July, 1940, unmarried or a widower without child or children or has since the said day been divorced or judicially separated or become a widower without child or children."

It is pointed out that any man unmarried at July 15th, 1940, even if married since that date, is still classed as a "single man."

Registration is to be made on forms available with Postmasters, National Selective Service Offices, or Registrars of Mobilization Boards.

Penalties are provided for failure to register

Look up, Mr. Farmer!

LOOK UP, Mr. Farmer. There they go, on their way—to blast a hole in the ocean where a submarine lurks or maybe to fix a Messerschmidt so it can't get home. Whatever their mission, you're a big hand in it. From the grain you planted and then prayed and perspired over came that all-important agent of war—high-proof alcohol. And from that alcohol came the rubber for the tires, the explosives in the bomb racks, the plastic for the shatterproof windshields. You couldn't point to a square foot of those planes that isn't somehow dependent on high-proof alcohol.

When you bend to your plough again, Mr. Farmer, and the furrow starts rolling over, you're helping to bury as vicious an enemy as mankind ever had. For your fields are the starting point for tons of smokeless powder and rubber and other vital supplies which are going to our army, navy and air force all over the world. And you are a prime source of pharmaceuticals which help guard the health of our fighting men and speed their recovery from battle wounds.

It takes an almost countless number of things to win a war, and a great many of them, Mr. Farmer, begin with your grain. You grow it and we'll make it into high-proof alcohol. Together, we'll finish the job Hitler and Co. will wish they hadn't started!

Fighter command pilots and ground defences in Britain destroyed 61 enemy aircraft in January. It was fighter command's most successful month since August, 1942.

Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons the Government has not undertaken discussions with any other government on international control of air transport lanes after the war.

American soldiers on foreign duty soon will be eating "cheese soup" or sandwiches garnished with powdered cheese when quantity production is reached on a new system of dehydrating the cheese.

Hon. William Morton, minister of municipal affairs, said rural municipalities in Manitoba closed their books for 1942 with bigger cash reserves and surpluses and smaller debts than at any time in the last 20 years.

Good Partner Policy

Will Have To Be Followed If Peace Is Permanent

Recently Walter Lippmann addressed the Canadian Club in Montreal on the subject: "The Good Partner Policy." He said: "The future depends on whether we have really understood that we cannot win the victory and make the peace and find an order which will endure without the combination of peoples which have been proved indispensable in the war . . . The maintenance of the alliance of the United Nations by the practice of the Good Partner Policy is, I believe, our first duty and the foundation of all the hopes of mankind of victory over our enemies and of an ordered world in which man can be free. If we fail to remain in the United Nations, we shall fail in all else that we may hope to do."

BIBLE TEACHINGS AGAINST DRUNKENNESS

Golden text: Strong drink shall be given to them that drink it. Isaiah 24:9.
Lesson: I Samuel 30:16, 17; Isaiah 28:14, 17; Galatians 5:19-21.
Devotional reading: Psalm 5:1-7.

Explanations and Comments: Drunkenness in David's Day, I Samuel 16:17-23. David had made a sudden raid upon Judah, had burned Ziklag and taken captive all the Israelites' wives and sons and daughters then together with much spoil. With six hundred men David pursued, retreating, traps, and among them "several thousand" all the ground, celebrating their victory by feasting, drinking and dancing. David utterly defeated them that night only four hundred young camel riders escaping.

Drunkenness in Isaiah's Day, Isaiah 28:1-7. The time is the early years of Hezekiah's reign in Judah. The prophet Isaiah is speaking to the leaders of Judah in their capital city of Jerusalem, and directing them to turn their thoughts to the king of the Northern Kingdom, whose name often stands for the whole kingdom. In the first six verses he denounces "the drunkards of Ephraim," and announces the speedy fall of their beautiful city of Samaria.

Drunkenness in Paul's Day, Galatians 5:19-21. Paul's Epistle to the Galatians was written to the churches he founded in Galatia, the great Roman province which extended from north to south across the central plateau of Asia Minor.

Now the works of the flesh are manifest—plainly seen! Paul writes, and proceeds to give a repelling list of fifteen vices which were common among the Christians he encountered. The list begins with sins against self; then come what were more deadly sins against God; finally there are the sins against society" (A. W. Robinson).

The words fall into four groups, the first group being one in which sensuality in the narrower sense is prominent; the second includes two that are associated with heathen religions; the third group contains eight in which the conflict with others is present; the fourth consists of drunkenness and its natural accompaniments."

Leaves his crutches on the running board as he scampers over the hood of a truck, using his powerful arms. On the ground, he works on his knees. "They're as tough as the soles of my feet," he said.

Highway jobs in the middle of the night do not phase him. Bad weather means nothing to him. With the temperature below zero, in recently put a new axel in a transport stalled on No. 2 highway.

Gamble states he can, "any day" do a job as fast and as well as any mechanic.

These Valentine tanks ready for loading at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Angus shops in Montreal soon will be rolling against the enemy in many far parts of the globe. Conversion of the C.P.R.'s largest shops into an arsenal is an indication of how Canada's peace-time industrial plants have been successfully turned to armament production.

Takes Up War Work

Brantford Man, Crippled All His Life, Is Expert Mechanic

Crippled since he was four years old, Arthur Gamble, 34, is now a first class auto mechanic at Brantford. Ont. War has given him the opportunity to take his place as a repair man with a big transport company.

Gamble says: "It's doing my bit the best way I know. Our trucks carry plenty of war goods. I'm leading a hand to keep 'em rolling."

Not able to walk since he fell downstairs as a child, he's a cheerful, energetic and powerful young man who handles any job, big or little, like an expert. His employers laud his good work.

GARDEN NOTES

Gardening Is Essential

Food is just as important as bullets in war, and for this reason gardening is almost as essential as ever this year. Seeds are not going to be plentiful because former

Canada depended to a large extent on Europe for supplies and these, of course, are cut off. Principal sources of seeds are in Canada where garden seeds are grown and from the United States. In both areas the weather was very unfavorable last season due to the fact that there was too much rain

at the wrong time.

Canadian gardeners, however, have been able to secure supplies sufficient for normal needs if these are used carefully. There will not be the wide range of varieties usually obtainable, but in standard lines it is expected that there will be enough to go around.

Gardeners, however, are advised to avoid over seeds and to avoid any waste.

In vegetables especially, beginners are urged to follow planting directions carefully, and to sow as thinly as possible. It is also important that seedbeds be well prepared, and at least a portion of the garden planted early. To get maximum results one should spread plantings over several weeks. This will assure more protection against early frost and will also give a large total yield.

Those gardeners with very small areas of land at their disposal are also urged to concentrate on those vegetables like beans, carrots, beets, spinach, etc., which give the largest possible return for the space occupied.

Things like corn, potatoes, squash, etc., take up far more room and where space is limited it is advisable to purchase these from regular sources and grow the smaller things in the home garden only.

The Lawn

Lawn grass must go in early as most grass is killed when the weather is still cool and wet.

After digging, the ground should be allowed to settle for a few days at least, and then leveled again.

It is advisable to repeat this process several times. The soil should then be re-dug and on dry days with wind the grass sown at liberal rate, once across and once lengthwise.

This double sowing insures an even distribution.

For permanent lawns of deep green color and fine texture, high quality seed from a reputable Canadian seed house is vital.

More Than Nuisance Raids

The great U-boat workshops at Kiel, Germany, have been so heavily damaged by R.A.F. bombings that the Germans have found it necessary to turn the Skoda arms works at Pilsen in Czechoslovakia, to the manufacture of submarine parts.

A Clever Dog

Squadron Bulldog Was An Expert At Hitch-Hiking

London.—"Bulby," the bulldog mascot of a Canadian torpedo-bomber squadron, was discharged for straying too often and winding up in police stations.

Bulby moved from station to station with his squadron, but soon after it arrived at its present base, he developed an acute case of wanderlust. "Bulby was a confirmed traveller," the squadron adjutant said. "He was lazy but intelligent, and he knew that if he stood in the middle of the perimeter, a transport truck would stop. Then he would climb aboard and jump out when it reached its destination. He never walked when he could ride."

No body minded that, but truck schedules became too uncertain for Bulby. He took to waiting for buses, hitching rides and going to a nearby village. There he hitched another bus ride, and finished the night in the police station of another town, waiting for the squadron to bail him out.

Bulby was rescued from the law once too often, and the following notes in the squadron's log book:

"The squadron bulldog, which has accompanied this unit on all its official moves throughout England and Scotland, has been posted to civvy street due to his recent misbehavior in breaking out of camp."

Using Magic Eye

Device Helps Royal Navy and R.A.F. To Spot Submarines

The war against the U-boats is being intensified with new devices used by the R.A.F. and the Royal Navy, which spot submarines on the surface no matter how thick the fog or how dark the night, it has been made known.

The air force uses a radio "magic eye" for its tracing of undersea craft. The navy employs radio locators.

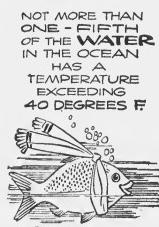

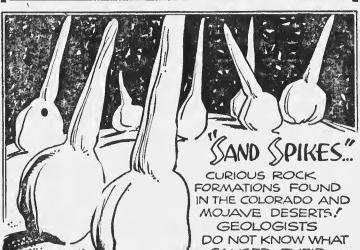

An authoritative source said the R.C.A.F. also has been using a new type of delayed-action bomb which explodes if any attempt is made to move it before the time set for its explosion.

While factory areas must be cleared of workers where these bombs are dropped since they can not be removed before they explode, it was said.

CHAPTER IX

JACK STOREY's heart was so pert that even he himself was surprised. His legs, bound at the ankles, parted just enough at the knees as they descended to permit the dark-skinned Arab's head to pass between them; then with a lightning application of scissors pressure he had Ibn Zeid in a powerful strangle hold.

Storey squirmed, curling his own body until his head and shoulders were less than a foot from the guard's face. He released the choking pressure of his knees sufficiently to enable his prisoner to hear. "Listen, Ibn Zeid," he hissed, "and make a sound. If you see your neck like a dry twigs, do you understand me?"

The imprisoned head moved painfully in answer. Storey drew up his knees, pulling Ibn Zeid closer to him. "Reach behind me, Ibn Zeid," he commanded, "and when I say 'go' make a sound. If you see your neck like a dry twigs, do you understand me?"

The imprisoned head moved painfully in answer. Storey drew up his knees, pulling Ibn Zeid closer to him. "Reach behind me, Ibn Zeid," he commanded, "and when I say 'go' make a sound. If you see your neck like a dry twigs, do you understand me?"

The long arms of the Kahiri just managed to touch the bonds behind Storey. The black fingers fumbled awkwardly with the knots until they were loosened.

Storey stretched his cramped arms. Ibn Zeid's pistol, which had spilled from the Arab's lap in the struggle, lay on the ground beside the sprawled men. The American picked up the weapon and touched the muzzle to the other's forehead. "Remember," he warned, "you die if you accuse the camp."

Again Ibn Zeid bobbed his head apologetically. Storey said: "When I loosen the ropes off my ankles also."

The mouth of the pistol brushed against the skull of Ibn Zeid as the Berber obeyed the order. When Ibn Zeid had turned to run again, gun in hand, against the back of his head, made his submission complete. Storey's ankles were freed in record time.

Completely at liberty now, Storey used the fallen ropes to secure Ibn Zeid, and stuffed a gas pistol into the guard's mouth. Then he hurried to Annette, who with Mohammed had witnessed in silence the dramatic elimination of the blood thirsty Ibn Zeid.

Storey unbundled the girl and helped her to her feet. The two then moved to Mohammed. They were crowned by the Kahiri, who then came out of the stillness of the night with a querulous voice: "Zed! You black devil, why didn't you waken me? You have let me sleep until almost morning!"

Ismedin the Lawless was setting up in his banner, a silhouette against the background of the dark blue sky; his face turned toward the shoulder where Ibn Zeid was supposedly on watch.

STOREY caught Mohammed by a shoulder and rolled the man over. "Quick, Annette!" he whispered. "Get those ropes off his feet!" And his own hands tore at the cords on Mohammed's wrists.

"Zed! Answer me!" Sheik Ismeddin was rising, and his followers, aroused by the shouting, were stirring in turn. "Zed, where are you?"

Mohammed, freed, hunched himself on his hands and knees, and looked at Storey.

The American moistened his lips. "We'll have to make a run for the camels. They'll see us, but we'll have a minute's start that may be long enough to cut the hobbles and ride away."

Like spiders leaping a starting line, the three arse and flew across the open ground toward the humped shadows of the resting dromedaries.

A shout announced that they had been discovered. A pistol cracked and a bullet kicked a geyser of sand in front of Jack Storey. First he leaped up among the Kahiri and raced toward the camels in an effort to head off the fugitives.

"I would," she said. "The cause—"

"I do not believe you," he said, "with a shade of sarcasm. "These things always all right in theory, but when the chips are down you would act like a human being and not like a machine. Do you know why I went back for you, Annette?"

Only the RED CROSS Can Pass

With Food and Comforts for
Our Prisoners of War!

BARBED WIRE and enemy guards "do not a prison make" for Canadian soldiers captured by the enemy. Their thoughts, winging across the sea, meet Red Cross parcels on their way to them. Last year, the enemy said "pass" to 2,000,000 such parcels. They were packed with 22,000,000 pounds of food and comforts welcomed by men to whom the barest necessities have become luxuries.

But, most of all, to each prisoner every Red Cross parcel is a message from home—a definite assurance that he is not forgotten, a reminder that no captured Canadian soldier is ever marked "off strength" by the Red Cross.

Thirty percent of the money you gave to the Red Cross last year was used to provide parcels for prisoners of war. The money you give now will help to keep up and increase this flow of good cheer and hope to these lonely men.
